Monday 15th march: Sunny,cloudy and fairly warm still nothing but I think it will be very very soon for my 1st butterfly of the year.

Getting very jelous from the march sightings IM GOING MAD. 😊😞😊

Today was cold and misty cloud which blocked the sun, saw nothin of course. 😞

(march 20th) Cloud here but spring has sprung in are garden, our pond we now have has FROG SPAWN in it which I can quite happily sit and watch for hours. The sedum shoots have had a growth spert and are quite big now. Also an elder flower tree in are garden has bust lots of its leaf buds showing the leaves. 😊

Today (for a change) was sunny and really rather warm 13–14°C and saw my first butterflies due to the warmth of the sun(see march sightings fourm for more deital on my sightings). Also in our pond I found a newt(female) carrying a lod of eggs!. 😊

Spring has officially sprung! YAY!!

(22nd march) It was miserable all day rain,rain and more rain 😨 but the sightings I saw on sunday will keep me going for a long time to come.

Today was also bad no sunny outbreaks ATALL! and no forgetting the fog! 😞 !

I think this is turning in to a weather diary. 😊
