

Rob Smith

by Rob Smith, 03-Mar-14 03:20 PM GMT

Hi All.

I have been visiting here a while now and have taken the plunge and registered. Hoping to contribute with some photos soon and tell you about the butterflies and moths around my area. Just put up a nectar feeder and hope it will get used a lot by my 'locals' this year. Will hopefully send in a few pictures of this in action. Thanks all.

Rob.

Re: Rob Smith

by Lee Hurrell, 03-Mar-14 03:28 PM GMT

Welcome, Rob 😊

Look forward to your tales from Kent.

Best wishes,

Lee

Re: Rob Smith

by Rob Smith, 03-Mar-14 03:37 PM GMT

Thanks Lee. I've already done wrong by not using my name as the subject heading. I should have read the rules first. Oh well. 😞

Re: Rob Smith

by Vince Massimo, 03-Mar-14 03:51 PM GMT

Welcome Rob,

I have corrected the subject heading for you 😊

Vince

Re: Rob Smith

by Rob Smith, 03-Mar-14 03:53 PM GMT

Thank You 😊

Re: Rob Smith

by essexbuzzard, 03-Mar-14 10:27 PM GMT

And a warm welcome from across the water, too!

Re: Rob Smith

by Wurzel, 03-Mar-14 11:44 PM GMT

Welcome Rob - looking forward to seeing your reports 😊

Have a goodun

Wurzel

Re: Rob Smith

by Maximus, 05-Mar-14 08:33 PM GMT

Hi Rob, welcome, look forward to seeing your photos 😊

Mike

Re: Rob Smith

by Rob Smith, 06-Mar-14 10:16 AM GMT

Thanks all. Will be out with my camera this weekend hoping to snap a few flutterbys 😊

Re: Rob Smith

by Rob Smith, 10-Mar-14 09:14 AM GMT

Well I got out alright but my partner forgot the camera 😞 We did see Brimstones, Small Tort's and a Peacock so a great start for me 😊

Re: Rob Smith

by Jack Harrison, 10-Mar-14 05:58 PM GMT

I am confused (old age). Aren't there now TWO Rob Smiths on ukb, one north of the Thames, the other to the south?

Jack