

Kip

by Kip, 20-Apr-16 11:13 PM GMT

Explanation first.....

You forget your login password, having been off site for a while, then you can't remember which of the several email addresses you registered last time with (since you only vaguely remember setting it up years ago)... can't then get a new password...

Anyway, that has happened to me, and as such "Reverdin" has left the building, thank you very much, leaving only the same old me...now Kip.

I understand Pete and the other moderators aren't at all keen on reincarnations, hence the above reasoning, so I hope I can stay, now sadly in my third guise, sigh!!

What prompted my emergence this year was this scene in my garden today....

I can't remember such a late start to a season as this one, just a handful of overwintered Peacocks, Commas and Small Torts at home in icy North Yorkshire.... until this pair of mating brassicae appeared today.... can't remember seeing this species so early... ever, and no, I did not breed them myself, don't even have cabbages 😊

Re: Kip

by Pete Eeles, 20-Apr-16 11:43 PM GMT

Kip wrote:

Explanation first.....

You forget your login password, having been off site for a while, then you can't remember which of the several email addresses you registered last time with (since you only vaguely remember setting it up years ago)... can't then get a new password...

Anyway, that has happened to me, and as such "Reverdin" has left the building, thank you very much, leaving only the same old me...now Kip.

I understand Pete and the other moderators aren't at all keen on reincarnations, hence the above reasoning, so I hope I can stay, now sadly in my third guise, sigh!!

Any of the mods can find you Paul (reset your password, etc.)! Let me know if you want to resurrect any of your previous two memberships!

Cheers,

- Pete

Re: Kip

by Padfield, 21-Apr-16 10:51 AM GMT

Welcome back, Paul! To be fair, you haven't been gone that long ... 😊

Guy

Re: Kip

by Kip, 22-Jun-16 11:48 PM GMT

Re-aquainted myself with pruni again on Tuesday at Glaphorn where this year's adults are nectaring on the exact same bushes as their ancestors did. Lovely fresh female was showing off splendidly....

Then as more people descended on the pruni shrine and I had already achieved what I went for, I decided to go elsewhere.... actually quite a distant place elsewhere... never had been to Prees Heath, just had to be done..... apologies to Planet Earth for the emissions involved. argus were plentiful and a joy to behold. I do think they are a little different in appearance there to ones I have encountered at other sites.... and very beautiful...

Sorting through dozens of images, may add a few more yet.
Hopefully a taste for me of things to come in the Haute-Savoie in early July 😊😊

Re: Kip

by Wurzel, 23-Jun-16 10:33 PM GMT

Wow that Blackstreak is a stunner Kip 😊👍

Have a goodun

Wurzel

Re: Kip

by Kip, 23-Jun-16 10:46 PM GMT

Thank you very much. She was a real lady!!

here are a few more from the day...

